King's Condition "Satisfactory As Could Be Expected"

Crowds Seek News Of King's Condition

—Acme Telephoto

LONDON—Crowds surge around the railings of Buckingham Palace to read the bulletin (affixed to the fence on the left of the picture) anonuncing the condition of King George after he underwent an operation for a lung resection. Doctors reported today that the King spent a restful night and his condition "continues to be as satisfactory as can be expected."

King George VI Has Operation On One Of Lungs

Surgeons Give Few Details Of Two-Hour Lung Operation

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Great Britain's beloved King George VI — possibly stricken with cancer and given a 50-50 chance of survival — was described today as in a condition "as satisfactory as can be expected."

The 55-year old monarch underwent a severe two-hour lung operation at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

Give Few Details

His eight surgeons and physicians, who gave few details, said that the operation involved "resection" of a lung. This, medical circles said, would involve collapse and removal of one lobe of a lung or perhaps the entire organ.

A cancerous growth or a tumor may have been responsible. The official bulletins merely stressed that a "structural change" in the lung had necessitated surgery for the long-ailing monarch.

Four nurses are in attendance—two at night and two during the day. Three of them are "Senior Ward sisters" of Westminster hospital and the fourth a "Senior Surgical Ward sister" from the

Allied And Red Liaison Officers Meet

—Acme Telephoto

NORTH KOREA—Allied and Communist liaison officers met for an hour on Sunday to arrange for a resumption of the Korean armistice negotiations but there was no immediate word on the result. Lt. Col. Norman B. Edward (above-second from right) is shown as he accepted a note from the chief North Korean liaison officer, Col. Chang, shortly after General Ridgway made it known the United Nations wished to continue the talks. Watching is Warrant Officer Kenneth Wu (right), interpreter for the United Nations and two unidentified Chinese.

Seeks Removal Of Conference Out Of Kaesong

Indications However Plans May Be Made To Resume Meetings

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Sept. 24.—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway again asked the Communists today to move the Korea armistice conference out of Kaesong in order to avoid further neutrality disputes.

However, there were authoritative indications the Allies would be willing to renew the suspended talks in Kaesong if —as one source put it—"new conditions more conducive to progress should be arrived at."

The new proposal for a change in the conference site was contained in a memorandum delivered by United Nations liaison officers to Red officers at an hour-long meeting in Kaesong this morning.

Another Session Set

Another liaison session in the controversial Korean city was set for 10 o'clock Tuesday morning (9 p.m. Monday EDT). At that time the Red high command is expected to reply to Ridgway's renewed request to move the talks to some other place.

At Pan Num Jom on the edge of the Kaesong neutral zone the Communists delivered a new memorandum to the Allies Monday evening.

Its contents were as yet undisclosed.

The communication was handed by North Korean Col. Chang Chun San, chief Red liaison officer, to a South Korean officer for delivery to Air Force Col. A. J. Kinney, head of the UN liaison group.

A Monday night communique from Ridgway's Tokyo headquarters set forth the arguments presented at the liaison meeting in behalf of the UN supreme commander, favoring a change in the parley site.

Three main reasons were cited:

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Storm of hurricane force was indicated today in the senate over President Truman's nomination of Philip C. Jessup as a delegate to the United Nations general assembly.

The nomination of Jessup and nine other U. S. delegates is still before a senate foreign relations subcommittee, headed by Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., but the charges and countercharges already are flying.

House Republican Whip Arends, Ill., wrote Sparkman asking that his group recommend against Jessup's confirmation. In the same letter Arends said "I pray that the president will see fit to submit the name of a new nominee whose record will better lend itself for service to our nation".

'Heartbreak Ridge' Peak Changes Hands Again In Long Battle

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 24.—Swarming Communists recaptured the tallest of the two peaks on eastern Korea's "Heartbreak Ridge" today only a few hours after American infantrymen had seized the height.

It was the fourth time the 3,500-foot hilltop north of Yanggu had changed hands in 14 days of bloody fighting in which both sides have suffered heavy casualties."

Both peaks of the strategic ridge were in the hands of stubborn North Korean troops, but the "saddle" between the two craggy hills was held firmly by United Nations soldiers.

Urges Congress To Reduce Taxes, Cut Spending

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(INS)—Congress was urged today to cut present tax rates and government spending rather than approve any part of the 5½ billion dollar tax increase bill now before the Senate.

The appeal came from Sen. Jenner (R) Ind. the young Republican charged in a speech prepared for Senate delivery that the administration is "collaborating" with the nation's enemies and "throwing away our hard won earnings with utter recklessness."

Jenners' declaration came after Sen. Martin (R) Pa., asserted that the revenue carried in the bill "is the maximum amount that can be piled up on top of the high taxes we are now paying."

The Senate again was called to meet today for its fourth day of

The verdant pattern is changing fast, the green is turning to gold, and the garb that was new just a short time ago, is suddenly found to be old. There's reds and yellows and sepias too, and many shades in between, as the forest changes to autumn clothes, from the summer pattern of green. But some there are that change not at all, the hemlocks and pines and spruce, and changing their duds is against their rule, and the autumn is no excuse. So that Master Painter gets on with his job and the summer has slipped away, and autumn's glories begin to appear, it's sixty-four today.

bombers Monday morning and killed or wounded some 200 Reds in 53 sorties with napalm against the deep Communist bunkers near Chorwon.

In one of the deadliest struggles of the whole Korean War, American foot sloggers stormed and won the loftiest peak of Heartbreak Ridge Sunday evening with bayonets and grenades.

The Americans beat back a fanatical Red counterattack before midnight. But the Communists rushed reinforcements into the battle early Monday and swept the GIs off the crest.

In seizing the peak at the south end of the ridge, the Americans had clambered up the rocky slope under terrific artillery, mortar and machine gun fire from the remnants of a last-ditch North Korean regiment.

Merciless Fighting

Merciless fighting, much of it hand to hand, raged throughout the day after two American spearheads jumped off just before dawn Sunday in their twin-pronged assault.

The Yanks struck from the north and south, closing in on eight-foot-deep long and dirt bunkers from which the North Koreans were putting up a suicidal defense.

The spearhead from the north drove the last surviving Reds from the peak at the south end of the ridge at 6 p.m. The Americans then beat off an immediate company-sized counterattack by Reds trying vainly to recover the height.

Meanwhile, the group attacking from the south could make but little progress in the face of furious resistance from North Koreans defending the hill on that side.

These American troops were able to get no closer than 400 yards southwest of the peak when they were stopped cold by the Reds.

Photographers had placed a cross of tape on the cement, where they asked Mr. Truman and De Gasperi to pose for pictures. The president remarked smilingly:

"You're putting me on the spot."

De Gasperi motored to the Italian embassy for a brief visit. He was to drive to Arlington National cemetery to place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at 11 a. m. (EDT).

Thereafter, his schedule called for an address to a joint meeting of congress and luncheon with Trumans at Blair House.

STILL SEEK AGREEMENT ON TAX PROGRAM

to clarify the House proposal to tax dividends paid parent Pennsylvania corporations by out-of-state subsidiaries.

"We're going to have amendments to some of the House bills in the package and after we see how they look we may have something to report out—and we may not," reported Wood last night.

The committee met in an unusual Sunday session to consider the plan of the Republican-dominated House to end the wrangle over finances resulting from the Senate GOP bloc's inability so far to muster sufficient votes for the income levy.

Unable To Agree

Wood's announcement after five hours of closed door deliberations indicated the committee was unable to reach an agreement among a majority of the members of the House proposal to end the longest session of the General Assembly since Revolutionary War days.

Wood said that if the Senate amendments to the House program are adopted "we will have a satisfactory program."

House Majority Leader Charles C. Smith, of Philadelphia, said he was confident House Republicans would not object to Senate changes in the last ditch proposal "as long as the principle of the proposed taxation is not changed."

The House proposal to impose a one per cent levy on real estate transfers may be amended to a lower figure.

Arends' letter referred to charges made before the senate internal security committee that Jessup once favored American recognition of Communist China.

The House Republican said:

"It is inconveivable to me that a person who would hold this belief could be entrusted with any vital task in the fight against Communism".

Sen. McCarthy (R) Wis., has announced he was preparing a brief against Jessup to submit to the foreign relations committee.

Political observers believed there was small chance that Mr. Truman would withdraw the nomination. The president is aware of McCarthy's charges and the fight that is brewing on Jessup. In the past he has refused to withdraw nominations under such conditions.

In addition to the McCarthy letter, the Sparkman subcommittee will receive transcripts of all testimony dealing with Jessup before the McCarran internal security committee. This includes the charge concerning his alleged desire for recognition of Red China.

SEEKS REMOVAL OF CONFERENCE OUT OF KAESONG

1.—The presence of irresponsible partisan groups in the neutralized Kaesong area represent a continuance of the negotiations.

2.—Maneuvers by both UN and Red forces around the perimeter of the neutral zone daily pose the change of an "unintended" neutrality breach.

3—The Kaesong area lies so close to important Red military supply routes that there is a danger of accidental aerial violations of the neutral zone.

Notwithstanding Ridgway's latest move, there were indications the supreme commander's armistice delegation would return from Japan to Gorea in a few days to resume the talks in Kaesong.

Vive Adm. Charles Turner Joy, head of the five-man delegation, conferred with Ridgway Monday.

The communique said Ridgway, through his liaison officers, "made it clear that new conditions more conducive to progress towards an armistice should be arrived at prior to resumption of the negotiations."

Observers said that Communist acceptance of such "new conditions" might persuade the UN military chief to drop his suggestion for a change in the conference site.

Once before during the month-old suspension of the parley, Ridgway demanded removal of the talks from Kaesong, but subsequently did not press the demand.

His memorandum presented by the liaison officers recalled that Ridgway originally had suggested the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia as the conference site.

Discuss Investigation

Sharkey said he ordered the meeting to discuss "matters relating to the Brooklyn crime investigation." He said he wanted to determine whether action should be taken at "the main office"—meaning police headquarters.

"If there is," added Sharkey, "I want to do it."

A police department shake-up has been reported impending since the Brooklyn grand jury called in Monahan and cited the need for reorganization to eliminate possibility of graft.

The grand jury, which has been investigating gambling and corruption since December, 1949, was angered when its work was "sabotaged" by Gross's refusal to testify last week in the police graft conspiracy trial.

The probe panel promptly went to work reviewing cases of the 18 defendants.

The masked thug with the submachine gun directed the robbery, while one of his companions leaped over a counter into the teller's cage, where 36 cash deposit bags from the night deposit vault lay on the floor.

HITCHEN-BURKE IMPRESSIVE RITES

Miss Hitchen is the daughter of John Hitchen, 523½ Lyndal street. Mr. Burke, formerly of West Virginia, has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones, 417 Waldo street, New Castle.

Miss Hitchen wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a portrait train. The fitted bodice was illuminated with tiny iredescent moons and the sheer yoke was trimmed with a jeweled collar and shoulderline terminating in long tapered sleeves pointed at the wrist. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion gathered to a crown of pearl baggetts. For her flowers the bride chose a white prayer book with a white orchid and stephonites.

Mrs. Hitchen wore a gown of blue taffeta with picture hat and matching mits. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of yellow taffeta with picture hats and matching mits. They carried colonial bouquets of tea roses.

Miss Isabel T. Johnson, church organist, provided the nuptial music.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Aunts of the bride, Mrs. William Wignall, Mrs. William Young, cousins, Mrs. Eugene Brockway and Mrs. Cyril Pheby poured with twelve members of the Trinity Junior Guild as aides. Wedding dinner for the bridal party was held in the Castleton hotel later that afternoon.

PERFECT FORMULA

The Soviet Union does not refer to itself as a Communist state. Its official name is the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. Orthodox western Socialists, who control several European governments, including the British, attempt to reject comparisons with what goes under the name of socialism in Russia.

Nevertheless, the achievement of communism, according to the current Stalinist definitions of this condition, is one of the professed goals in Russia. Moscow dispatches, which passed the censorship, tell of domestic propaganda within Russia to the efrect that the Soviet Union hopes to enter the Communist stage by 1960.

Under communism, there would be no inequalities, no incentivies, no differences in income or privileges, such as now prevail in the Soviet Union and must prevail, if production is to be maintained and quotas reached. Under communism, the state and all of its apparatus would wither and disappear.

With all equal, all satisfied, all reduced to one level, in which enterprise and ambition would be negatived, no government would be needed.

Members of the central committee of the Communist party, which is another name for the Kremlin, have no intention, of course, of producing a Utopia that would render them dispensable. The alibi for not doing so is that a hostile, imperialistic, plutocratic world of enemies surrounds the Soviet Union and not until the world goes Communist can Russia's Socialist, or Communist, government be dispensed with.

It is a perfect formula, under the rewritten Marxism of Lenin or Stalin, for the inner Communist group at Moscow to go on ruling into the far, far future.

ZOG'S SPLENDOR

Albania is a small Adriatic land, of approximately the area of New Hampshire or Maryland, whose population of 1,000,000 consists of peasants. Its total holdings in gold and foreign exchange on December 31, 1945, were worth $82,000.

That, of course, was after it had been liberated from German and Italian occupation, thereafter to fall, as events proved, into Communist control. Nevertheless, when one reads that former King Zog made a down payment of a long-disused Long Island mansion with a bucket of diamonds and rubies, and that he wants to bring a suite of 115 persons to Muttontown, L.I., it is obvious that the pickings while Zog was king of Albania were substantial.

It's not important, except as an exhibit on how lucrative the kingship of even an impoverished land can be. Lucrative, too, for the estate which owns the Long Island mansion, furnished and vacant for 12 years—one of those establishments which few Americans now have the resources (after taxes) to maintain and which, in this case, the Soviet Union seems not to have rented.

TRUE NONSENSE

Among humorists Gelett Burgess was closer to the English than to the American tradition. He shared nothing, for example, with Mark Twain, but he bore some striking similarities to the English mathematician, Charles Lutwidge Dodgson of "The Hunting of the Snark," and the English landscape painter, Edward Lear, who wrote "Book of Nonsense."

Burgess was a graduate of M.I.T., sober and academic in appearance, who, like Lear, illustrated his humor with what has been referred to as "ostentatiously uneducated draftsmanship." Burgess's famous Purple Cow was out of the same basket as Lear's "The Pobble That Has No Toes." Neither of them, of course, ever reached the height of Dodgson's "Alice in Wonderland," published under the pen name of "Lewis Carroll."

Burgess gave two words to the American language—"bromide," meaning a boring exponent of the obvious, and "blurb," which he defined as "to make a noise like a publisher." The Goop books, with the author's grotesque illustrations, were serious lessons in infant manners. Burgess was a man of multiple talents, wide activities and broad acquaintanceship, with a real gift for satire. This was evidenced, among other signs, in the building of involved contraptions to perform trivial functions.

What now passes for American humor all to often depends upon the gag, the pun, the quick twist. Homor can be nonsense, as Dodgson, Lear and Burgess proved, but not without satirical, philosophic overtones. True nonsense is never without meaning.

WILL HE OR WON'T HE?

They are in the minority, indeed, but there are voices crying out in Washington's political wilderness that President Truman will not seek re-election in 1952. Their reasoning goes something like this:

Although the president is technically exempt from the recent constitutional amendment limiting a chief executive to two terms, political observers believe that Mr. Truman may decide the provision does apply to him morally.

They also say that Mr. Truman considers that his job of steering the U.S. along an internationalist course is done and that there is little chance of a reversion by this country to isolationism.

And, finally, they say that Mr. Truman just doesn't like being president and Mrs. Truman doesn't like being first lady.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Spain Assumes Importance

Decision of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to admit Greece and Turkey into the Western European defense system riveted new attention upon the Mediterranean today.

And Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain, in logical sequence of events, again has become a nation of vast international importance.

It is undoubtedly eloquent, in view of the general situation, that in discussing the Spain of today, it automatically is referred to as "Franco's Spain".

Basis For Wide Opposition

This is the basis for wide opposition in many British and French circles to condoning Spanish reentry into the democratic family of nations, despite the fact that diplomatic sources as a whole freely admit the advantages, if not the necessity, of Spain's cooperation in the Mediterranean in the event of a third world war.

The question of Spanish participation in European defense was given its greatest emphasis when Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, then Chief of U.S. Naval Operations, visited Madrid shortly before his sudden death in Naples.

Sherman spent much time with Franco and his military aides.

He came away from the Spanish capital convinced that the western powers would be cutting off their nose to spite their own face if they turned down the very sizable material offerings that Spain has to give in the conflict against aggressive communism.

Franco has found it to his advantage to maintain a large army and military police paid for out of public taxation.

Has Standing Army

This has given him a standing army of seasoned men estimated at between 400 and 500 thousand. A former flier himself, he has managed to maintain an air force that is said to be expert in maneuverability and fast action, despite the fact that most of the planes are obsolete according to present standards.

Over and above these, Spain possesses geographical assets that neither time nor scientific progress can change to any real extent.

These are her great harbors and seaports. From Bilbao on the Bay of Biscay to Barcelona in the Mediterranean, Spain has wide and expansive harbors, great dockworks, and all the other contributions to naval superiority that—according to Admiral Sherman's estimates—would require only a small outlay of defense funds to put into excellent working condition.

But there still is an important psychological factor involved. The huge segments of public opinion in Britain and France which oppose Francisco Franco still look upon him as a one-time colleague of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. . .

Cloudy Figure

Franco remains something of a cloudy figure so far as his performance in World War II is concerned.

He was ostensibly a neutral. Charges have been made that he gave material assistance to the Axis powers, and certain of his published statements and messages of congratulation to Rome and Berlin showed a sympathy that was not evident in his dealings with the democracies.

But it also is a fact that if he wished, Franco could have opened the Pyrenees and enabled the German forces occupying southern France to stream through his country and into the Mediterranean.

And it is also quite possible that with his naval base and troop garrisons at Algeciras, he could have made Gibraltar, and possibly the Island of Malta, absolutely untenable by Great Britain.

Either of these steps could have changed the whole course of the war.

The delicacy of the situation regarding Spain's possible part in European defenes is entirely obvious.

It is apparent that no world statesman at the moment wishes to present it vigorously. But it is equally apparent that it cannot be postponed indefinitely. The mere physical distribution of the world's land and sea masses has made Spain a strategic country. And Generalissimo Franco knows it.

CHILD'S UNSUPERVISED PLAY

"Billy is such a nice child. His parents are among the finest parents of our church and community. I'm so glad he is so kind to my little Barbara." She is three and Billy is seven. Billy and Barbara often play in the garage or in a room of the house all by themselves.

No matter whose boy Billy is, it is not fair to him and Barbara for them to be so long and often alone together. The normal temptation for Billy to explore Barbara's person under such conditions is pretty great. Just because a boy so much older than Barbara should want to spend so much time with her and so little proportionately with other children of his age, indicates that he and Barbara, are also losing normal social play experiences.

Out Of Sight

It might be Jane, six or seven years of age, instead of Billy, who likes to be with Barbara often out of the sight and hearing of adults. Even if Jane were Barbara's age, their strong urge to play for long periods in secrecy is not a healthy one.

Though we can't afford to be always suspicious of young children when we can't see and hear them, we should protect them by so guiding them that they play out before the eyes and ears of older persons. While "there's safety in numbers" as a rule, even a group of younger children can be exploited by an older one with undesirable sex habits and attitudes. (My bulletin on this subject may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.)

Many parents who live in outlying places may suppose their young children are physically and morally safe with all the surrounding fields and trees and shrubbery. Yet these places so delightful for young children to run and romp and chase one another, also afford easy places for eluding adult eyes and ears.

Moral Safety

Parents of young children can't afford to be as smug about the moral safety of their children as many are, especially among the more "privileged" families. They, or reliable substitutes, need to know where their tots and runabouts are, and what they are doing during any half-hour period or less throughout the day.

Wise parents add to their young child's safety in these matters by having always answered all his questions about sex in a family atmosphere of love and understanding, by going with the young boy or girl who has no baby sister or brother to homes where babies of the opposite sex can be seen in bath and the like. With normal curiosity satisfied early about how a child of the opposite sex "is made," much sex experimenting can be prevented; also, by having trained him in adequate restriants and getting over to him that there are certain things which are not done.

Wise Supervision

But in spite of the wisest instruction of the young child, he also needs wise supervision and protection.

If your child has been known to be the teacher of bad sex habits to others, don't get panicky. Just make sure he is protected from more temptations through proper supervision, that he gets more family love and security, and more fun in normal ways.

And don't ostracize the boy or girl in your community who has these tendencies. Just be sure some responsible person is present when he is with your child. Plan with other parents to build up this child in good ways and self-regard.

Bible Thought

It hath been said, whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement: but I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery; and whoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.—Matthew 5:31, 32.

CUSTARD PIE

Grandad and Butch like custard pie. Grandad eats his with both knife and fork. Butch eats the first piece out of his hand if Mom isn't looking. They both get mighty polite if it looks like there might be a second piece.

Mom pretends that one piece is enough for anybody but she forgets to count and is glad to see the pie plate with a bare bottom.

She knows thta custard pie has protein and carbohydrate and fat and iron and vitamins in abundance. What else could a person want?

Butch knows what else and so does Grandad.

Grandad isn't very ticklish but Mom knows how to tickle his palate.

State Police Say:

One out of every five fatal accidents is caused by too many drinks. This is not merely a kill-joy statement, it is a kill-man fact. The many hundreds of people who lost their lives needlessly are tragic evidence. Alcohol dulls your senses, you assume a dangerously false sense of confidence in your driving ability and you misjudge speed and distance. Even a moderate amount of alcohol in your system will affect your efficiency of vision and reaction.

Some Senate Tax Bill Provisions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—On Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the senate finance committee released a new tax bill which is 349 pages of fine print. With it went a committee report of 120 pages.

At 10 o'clock the following morning the senate took up the bill that provides, according to estimates of the committee's staff, for about $5.5 billions in additional revenue. If senators took a minimum of six hours' sleep and concentrated all the rest of their time on taxes, they would have had 14 hours in which to familiarize themselves with a complicated measure that in difficult and sometimes sly language gives the breaks to the big taxpayer and puts the added burden on the small taxpayer.

The fact is, of course, that most senators have little or no knowledge of what is in that package. And many are so preoccupied with other matter or so indifferent that they give slight attention to the debate on the floor.

Almost Speechless

One who does know what it contains as a result of two months of concentrated study of the tax problem is Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota. After the bill was reported out, Humphrey went to Majority Leader Ernest McFarland to ask how much time would be given in the senate to consideration of the bill. When he was told that the hope was to push it through, with lengthened senate sessions, by the week's end, he was almost speechless with indignation—and for the articulate Humphrey that is an extraordinary state.

The central weakness of the bill, Humphrey pointed out, is the fact that it raises taxes on earned income of individuals and on corporate income while it reduces the capital-gains tax. Under the capital gains tax, if an individual holds stocks, land or other property for a certain period and then sells it at a profit, this is considered not as income, but as capital gain. The tax rate on it can be as low as 25 per cent, instead of 60 or 70 per cent for income and 52 per cent for corporation tax.

Tendency Is Seen

Naturally the tendency is, with the help of clever tax lawyers, to convert income into capital gain and thereby to reduce the amount received by the government. In general, only those with incomes of $25,000 a year or more can make any practical use of this device.

Another provision that has drawn Humphrey's fire is an extension of the family partnership provision permitting income to spread not merely between husband and wife but between children and even uncles and cousins and nieces and aunts. The real gimmick is that this privilege would be retroactive to 1939.

In this way it would take off the hook thousands of get-rich-quick patriots and five percenters out of World War II. Claims totaling hundreds of millions of dollars are being pressed against them by the bureau of internal revenue. But with the retroactive provision these claims would all be cancelled. While present tax laws forbid any reference to the names of these individuals, Humphrey, using numbers instead of names, is spelling out just what it means to big taxpayers seeking to squirm through this loophole.

Inflationary Effects

Equally concerned over the inflationary effects of the present bill and the loopholes in it is Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois. With his remarkable ability to analyze complex legislation, Douglas says the measure inevitably means more inflation at a time when controls have been weakened and the price spiral is pushing upward.

The hope of making any substantial changes in the bill on the floor could be put into a doll-sized eyedropper. But Douglas has been assured that a strong fight will strengthen the hand of the house conferees and be ammunition especially for Representative Herman Eberharter of Pennsylvania, who intends to fight in conference for the sterner house measure that provides an increase of $7.2 billions.

The treasury is running a deficit for the current calendar year at the rate of $5 billions a month. Since most provisions will be applied only in the last two months of this year, the senate bill would raise only an estimated $3 billions in 1951. The deficit for 1952 would be at an even higher rate.

If anyone wanted a pure and unadulterated example of what pressure-group politics can do, there is the senate tax bill. Practically everybody got into the act. And if you want a contrast there is the approach to all, including even spending taxes intended to keep down mass purchasing power. What finally comes out of congress may or may not be better than the senate game of tax roulette, which so perilously gambles with the national welfare.

One Man's Opinion

In Washington a number of Democrats who don't feel like Democrats are meeting with a number of Republicans who don't feel like Republicans in a mutual attempt to find out what they are.

Since 1932 and Roosevelt a sizable group of Democrats has been trying to determine whether they left the party or the party left them and a group of Republicans has been trying to figure a similar problem since 1940 and Willkie.

My barber says it was much simpler years ago. . . . Republicans were employers, Democrats were employees and radicals were idlers.

You could tell a fellow's politics by his economic status, but today things are so confused the RFC is examining Democrats' bank accounts.

Not that everybody isn't fairly well off today. . . . bankruptcy is confined pretty much to morals and there isn't any great sweat to write a 10-point program to improve that situation.

HONORS

I would not wear them on my coat.
I'd rather keep them in my heart.
I never want a friend to note
That from him I've been set apart.

I can be proud of them alone,
But still I hope 'twill never be
That any honor I have known
Has made too proud a man of me.

Heart keep them hidden! There were some
That proofs of friendship must remain;
And there's tomorrow soon to come
When I must face my tasks again.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Now that was a dandy week-end . . . Fall arrived on schedule and it really felt like it . . . soon the leaves will be turning those beautiful shades and the evenings will be cool and crisp. Time to really dig in and do something about your yard and garden . . . neat up the place. The leaves will be gathering and if you're not ready for them, the job will seem like a big one. Top dressing on the lawn will make for a better spring growing time . . . so use the few day light hours that are left in "summer time". Next week we all will be back to "winter time" . . . which won't make some people angry at all.

Personally, we had a wonderful experience Sunday . . . did something that we haven't done for many a moon. . . . Started a fire in the fireplace . . . turned off the TV and the radio and just sat down and did some reading. Quiet and comfy . . . just like the old days. Kinda soothing . . . surprising what good stories they are printing today . . . you might try such an evening real soon.

Big goings on down Bedford Springs today and tomorrow . . . good food . . . good companionship . . . and good gas buggies. Yep, it's the good old days for the owners and friends of about 150 pre-1925 autos. The Glidden Tour started out from Pittsburgh Sunday morning . . . went to Uniontown and then for a scheduled stop at Cumberland, Md., over night. . . . Today the "Tour" will make Bedford Springs and a big party tonight. . . . Millionaires will talk with grease monkeys . . . and they'll learn a few tricks about keeping their veteran vehicles in running condition.

Clint Keagy of New Castle drove his "Blue Bird" Rolls Royce down for the tour . . . and we hope that he took a good camera along. . . . Don't know of anyone else driving in the tour . . . several local "sports car" fans are down there just looking around . . . sort of mixing the veterans and sports a little . . . but that's all right. . . .

Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Roberts Makes Sense

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.

In the last year hundreds of stories concerning General Eisenhower and the presidency have appeared in print. There is hardly an editor, columnist, commentator or correspondent who has not presented his view as to what the General has in mind and what he will do. Some have him drafted by one party; some by the other; some by both. Some have elected him overwhelmingly. Others have ruled him out altogether on the ground that he will not permit himself to be nominated. In all this welter of opinion, analysis, prognostication and speculation there have been very few basic facts until a few days ago when Mr. Roberts, of the Kansas City Star, spoke out on a television program.

—o—

An old and warm friend of General Eisenhower and an exceedingly astute and experienced political observer, Mr. Roberts made two unequivocal statements: (1) that General Eisenhower is a Republican, (2) that "the military situation permitting" he will gladly accept a draft from the Republicans. There is so much supporting evidence for these statements that it does seem they must be generally accepted. This should mean an end to the utter nonsense that has been promulgated to the effect, first, that "Ike" does not yet know whether he is a Democrat or a Republican; second, that he has no desire to be President and the whole business is distasteful to him.

—o—

Concerning his Republicanism, Mr. Roberts explained quite simply that he knows the General is a Republican because he told him so. But it should not have been necessary to make that statement. For between the time the General became president of Columbia and the time he took over the job of building up a united armed force in Europe he made a number of speeches in different places which made it perfectly clear that at least he was neither a New Dealer nor a Fair Dealer. Of course, he is in accord with the Administration's foreign policy, but that, at any rate, is supposed to be bipartisan, and there are a great many Republicans who support it, too. However, no one who has talked with "Ike" since his name has been connected with the presidency—and a good many have—has any doubt at all that there is almost nothing in the Truman domestic program to which he subscribes.

—o—

As to the General's personal feeling about being President, it goes without saying that if the military situation next year seems to need him he will not be available for a draft. But if "the military situation permits," common sense tells us that Mr. Roberts is right and he will "gladly accept a draft from the Republicans." Because it has been clear for five years that the idea of being President is not repugnant to the General and that, "military situation permitting," the desire is there—which is natural, human and right. If there were anything distasteful to him about the presidency, he long ago could have ended his boom and stopped the activity of his friends. All he had to do was follow the example of General Marshall, who, some years ago, met a similar movement to nominate him in these words: "I would like to say that I am not now—nor will I ever be—available for any elective office."

—o—

From that moment all speculation about General Marshall for President ceased. Everybody knew he meant exactly what he said. General Eisenhower could have said the same thing any time in the last five years with the same result. He never has said anything like it. The difference between him and General Marshall is that the latter really had no desire to be President and the whole discussion of his name was distasteful to him. If it were distasteful to "Ike" he could have stopped it just as effectively. Thus we have this situation—a majority of the people of the country, Democrats as well as Republicans, appear to want General Eisenhower for President. They do not much care what party he belongs to or what are his views; they just want him. He would like to be President and "the military situation permitting" would gladly accept a draft from the Republicans.

—o—

It is true that no one will ever be drafted for a presidential nomination against his will or without in some way conniving in the draft. The strength of Senator Taft makes it clear there can be no Eisenhower draft without a convention fight. If Mr. Roberts makes sense—and he does—and if he understands Eisenhower's position—and he does—this means that, always with "the military situation permitting," "Ike" will be glad to have his supporters make a convention fight for him—and will help all he can without damaging his dignity or detracting from the draft idea. That his friends intend to make this fight is clear and the reasons they believe it will be successful are: first, because sentiment in the country is strongly pro-Eisenhower; second, because the Republican politicians, after four successive defeats, are exceedingly anxious to win; third, because while "Ike," like Marshall, could at any time put an end to his boom, he most conspicuously has failed to do so. To let his friends work for him up to the last minute and then declare himself out would be the kind of trick a man like Eisenhower does not play on his friends.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"The Spark of Life" has been discovered, according to a magazine article, and we are coming closer and closer to the answer to the question whence we came.

Atomic airplanes will soon be built. The first order for one has already been placed.

Within a very few years we shall be able to reach other planets. Any day now the announcement may come that communication with Mars or Venus has been established.

There were almost 500 highway deaths during the Labor Day weekend.

Our losses in Korea now amount to more than 83,000.

President Truman said in a recent speech that "fantastic weapons" are now ready—weapons more formidable by far than the atomic bomb, weapons that can destroy millions at a time, and bring an end to all civilization.

Industrial accidents are increasing year by year.

Hardly a day passes that somewhere there is not a plane smash-up, a railroad disaster, an explosion, or some sort of an accident—all due to PROGRESS.

Sometimes I wonder whether the human race has not got far ahead of itself.

Has it not erected a Frankensteinian monster that will eventually destroy it?

It seems that with all our peace conferences and all the wonderful achievements of the human brain EVERY SINGLE THING that man devises is eventually used for purposes of destruction.

Medicine has discovered many wonderful drugs.

So what does Man do? He develops bacterial warfare.

Atomic knowledge can be used for all sorts of worthwhile purposes. It can bring about a new era in industry, in agriculture, in everyday life.

But man is not satisfied with that. First he has to utilize it to make bombs and to destroy himself.

Man invented the automobile engine. First came the one-cylinder, then the two, the four-cylinder car. Now it is eight cylinders, 180 horse-power, 125 miles an hour, and every year the record for automobile accidents and highway deaths is broken.

I wrote about this very subject before. But the ink on the paper is hardly dry when something else comes along — something more wonderful and more deadly, something that gives man an ever better chance for suicide and murder.

It isn't a pretty picture, I know.

But neither is the picture of boys in wheel chairs or coffins pretty. Neither is the picture of a plane with 50 passengers crashing to the ground pretty. Neither is the picture of a morgue with a carful of what was once holiday-making human beings pretty.

Who is to blame? I don't know.

But I guess it all started with Adam and Even when they ate the forbidden fruit.

Man has eaten of forbidden fruit ever since.

And paid the penalty for it.

Lawmakers To Get Last Pay

Will Receive $600 When Session Ends

HARRISBURG, Sept. 24.—(INS)—There is $600 for each of Pennsylvania's lawmakers at the foot of the rainbow when the legislature adjourns sine die . . . legislators received their last pay check in April . . . the law provides that assemblymen shall receive $3,000 for each regular session, paid in five installments . . . Six hundred dollar checks are turned over to the legislators regularly for four months of each regular session but the final payment is held until sine die adjournment . . . Many lawmakers, engaged in the longest legislative session since revolutionary war days, have felt the pinch of maintaining themselves at Harrisburg during the stop-and-go sessions the past few months while keeping homes operating for their families . . . helping to keep the wolf away from the door of many were expense checks of $900 each paid last July . . . Another $900 will be paid to each in November.

Senate Democrats and Republicans are impressed with the diligence of Sen. Hugh J. McMenamin (D) Lackawanna, who is serving his first term . . . The Scranton lawyer, about the youngest on the Democratic side, has missed few if any sessions since the legislature convened nine months ago . . . Should he continue in the Senate for several terms, he may rise to a position of leadership, according to his colleagues . . . McMenamin led the campaign for legislative approval of a measure to allow Scranton to retain its 2-A status among the commonwealth's cities.

Are foxes as wily as they are thought to be? Many a sportsman can tell of tale after tale of the caginess of foxes but just to keep the proper perspective the State Game Commission reports one case where curiosity killed one nosy young Reynard. . . . Game protector Calvin A. Hooper, Jr., of New Castle, offered the following informal report on trapping chicken-stealing foxes which has been passed along by the commission: "After looking over the area, I decided to make two sets about 90 feet apart. When one trap was set, I walked to the other side. I had just knelt to prepare the ground when I heard a commotion at the first set. Upon investigation, I found a gray fox kit in the trap there. A second young fox hurried off into the brush. Because only a few minutes had elapsed since setting the trap, I figured that cats are not the only animals killed by curiosity."

On October 4, the main state capitol building at Harrisburg will be 45 years old. . . . The huge building, which many of the state government's offices including the House and Senate chambers, replaced the comparatively small capitol edifice which burned February 2, 1897. . . . Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, dedicated the building and a bronze plaque marks the spot in the rotunda where he stood. . . . Since then, the main building has been augmented by big office buildings known as the North, South, Finance, Education and Northwest. . . . In addition, commonwealth offices are tucked away in many privately-owned buildings in downtown Harrisburg while the State Parole Board occupies a handsome old mansion on the banks of the Susquehanna River.

Posthumous D.S.C. Award

High Honor Conferred For War Heroism

TOKYO, Sept. 24 — (INS) — A Detroit soldier who sacrificed his life to save his comrades has been awarded the distinguished service cross posthumously.

Pvt. Earl K. Jackson, Company G, 35th Regiment, earned the nation's second highest military honor by deliberately smothering a bursting enemy grenade with his own body to save the lives of three other soldiers on Sept. 1, 1950, near Kuhe-Ri, Korea. He is the son of Mrs. Eva Baker, (4864 Ever St.), Detroit.

His citation states in part:

"Private Jackson's platoon, in defensive positions on a strategic hill, was viciously attacked in the early morning hours by a numerically superior hostile force supported by intense automatic weapons and grenade fire. The fanatical assailants swarmed up the hill, overran several individual positions, and ferocious hand-to-hand combat ensued.

"During the encounter, an enemy grenade was thrown within two feet of the emplacement occupied by Private Jackson and two comrades. Without hesitation, he jumped out of the fox-hole, grabbed the grenade and hurled it back, wounding one of the enemy.

"Then, while in another foxhole with three soldiers, a genade was thrown into the position. Fully realizing the odds against him, Private Jackson threw himself on it, absorbing the full force of the explosion with his body.

"Private Jackson was mortally wounded in this fearless display of valor, but his willing self-sacrifice saved several of his comrades from death or serious injury and imbued the members of his company with indomitable resolution to repel the ruthless foe. His incredible courage and consummate gallantry reflect utmost credit on himself and the honored traditions of the military service."

Father Kills Two Small Daughters, Tries Suicide

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 24.—(INS)—A heart-broken grandmother told Springfield police today how her son killed his two little daughters before making a vain attempt to take his own life.

Authorities alleged that Robert G. Golden, 24, stabbed his elder daughter, Sherie Ann, 3, and then after chatting briefly with his mother, plunged a knife into the heart of the other child, Donna Marie, 17 months.

Detectives quoted the grandmother, Mrs. William Golden, as saying:

"I heard one of the children cry out from where I was sitting on the porch. I started in the house and met my son and asked him what the matter was. He just said one of the kids had a nose bleed and that he was going to the kitchen to get something to stop the blood.

"Poor little Sherie must have been dead then and I didn't know it. It became quiet later and when I went in I found the girls both dead and my son unconscious on the floor."

Police said Golden, a disabled Navy veteran, apparently killed the older child first and was enroute to the kitchen for another knife when he was interrupted by his mother.

"Our paramount duty is to promote and preserve peace, to strengthen the forces of peace and to create the conditions which will assure during peace."

Battle Shaping Up On Railroad Pensions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(INS) Bitter battle is shaping up in the house today over railroad pensions.

The controversy has split the railroad labor unions, federal agencies, the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, which has legislative jurisdiction, and Democrats and Republicans generally.

It has placed congressmen, not directly involved in the controversy, in the middle because they will be required to vote, probably this week or next, on two-sharply divergent proposals.

All sides are agreed on but one thing, and that is that pensions and annuities paid to retired railroad workers and their families are insufficient and must be boosted without delay. From thereon the views differ widely.

After the business meeting the firemen enjoyed a delicious menu of corn. The invocation was given by Rev. Hall.

Lithofold Corp. Influence Probe Is Continuing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24. —(INS)—Senate influence probers question today three men who reportedly received thousands of dollars from the American Lithofold Corp., while they were government officials.

The first on the witness list as the so-called Boyle inquiry resumes, is James B. E. Olson, who resigned August 24 as supervisor of the alcohol tax unit in New York.

The senate investigating committee has been told Olson got $5,951.25 from the St. Louis printing firm. Senators in quizzing other witnesses suggested that Olson sought printing business from the liqour industry he was paid by the government to supervise.

Others to be questioned are John L. Kelly, chief investigator for the wages and hours division in New York, reported to have received $13,942.47 from Lithofold, and Walter Doxon, Newark, N. J., internal revenue agent, said to have been paid $1,000.

The committee drives this week to clean up its probe of charges that Democratic national chairman William Boyle helped get government money for Lithofold, who put him on its payroll when loan applications were pending before the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

No Comment

However, Francis Flannagan, chief counsel for the senat probers, said he had "no comment" on published reports that Boyle's former law partner, Max Siskind, has paid Boyle more than 100 thousand dollars in the two and one-half years since their partnership was dissolved.

Flannagan said that the committee will hear Siskind later this week.

Staff investigators start digging today into charges that Republican national chairman Guy Gabrielson "improperly" intervened with the RFC for an extension of an 18 and one-half million dollar loan to Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., of which he is president.

The senate has been told that Gabrielson acted improperly in accepting a fee in the case because of his GOP position.

Supreme Court Voids Promotions Of Ten Philadelphia Firemen

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—(INS)—The State Supreme Court today in Pittsburgh voided the promotions of ten Philadelphia firemen by ruling the Veterans Preference Act of 1945 unconstitutional by a vote of 4-to-3.

The state high court, in an opinion written by Chief Justice James B. Drew, conceded that granting of the first ten per cent preference to veterans in civil service was constitutional but added there "must be some reasonable relation between the basis of preference and the object to be obtained by the preference of veterans for public service."

Charles A Moling, who left his $6,400 air force printing procurement job last March to take a $25,000 post with the St. Louis printing firm, said he also got a $6,000 loan arranged by an official of a second company, the Laurel Printing Company of New York.

Fire Trucks To Feature Drills At Neshannock Schools

In order to make fire drills at the Neshannock township schools a little more realistic, during Fire Prevention Week, the township fire department will drive right up to the schools as though a real fire were in progress, it was announced today by Fire Chief James Messner.

Fire Prevention Week occurs from October 7 to 13, and it is planned to bring home to the residents of Neshannock township, the need to be on the alert against fire at all times.

Several practice runs will be made to the schools this week to get the children accustomed to the drills to be held next week, and also to acquaint the residents of the township with what the fire department has in mind for Fire Prevention Week.

The Atlantic ocean first was mentioned by that name by Herodotus, Roman historian.

Witnesses May Get Immunity

Law Considered To Aid Probing Of Red Activities

HOLLWOOD, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Congressmen investigating the Red infiltration of the film industry gave thought today to legislation which would grant immunity to witnesses testifying about their Communist affiliations.

The matter was given consideration as the house comittee on un-American activities prepared to renew for at least two more days its hearing on the Red plot to "take over" the movie studios.

Members of the committee felt that a law granting immunity would, if nothing else, leave no room for the excuse used by 26 witnesses who refused to testify at last week's sessions.

The uncooperative witnesses took refuge behind the fifth amendment to the constitution, claiming that their testimony might tend to incriminate them.

Approximately 20 more witnesses were under subpoena as the committee prepared to resume its sessions after a weekend recess. Members of the committee said there was no indication of how many of the 20 would stand on their constitutional rights and decline to talk.

Of last week's 33 witnesses only seven testified freely. But among them, these seven gave the congressmen thousands of words of new information on the Communist situation in the film industry.

Senator Martin Blasts President Truman's Spending Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(INS)—President Truman's ideas on propriety and economy were blasted today by Sen. Martin (R) Pa., in a double-barreled attack.

In a radio talk, the Pennsylvania lawmaker first scored what he called "the high speed government spending that is now going on."

Martin, a member of the senate finance committee, hit out at several phases of the chief executive's demand for a high 1952 budget.

The senator also attacked the "bad taste and the bad timing" of the presidentt's San Francisco speech on the eve of the Japanese peace conference.

"National Bankruptcy"

Martin predicted that there would be "national bankruptcy if we rush headlong into a spending program that will cost the taxpayers at least 100 billion dollars each year for the next few years."

The senator said he believed the six billion dollars passed by the finance committee, out of the 10 billion requested, is "the maximum aount that can be piled up on top of the high taxes we are paying."

The Keystone state Republican also lobbed a few rounds of oratorical ammunition into Mr. Truman's speech at cornerstone ceremonies for the new general accounting office building.

The purpose of the presidential address, Martin said, was "to pour ridicule on those who see grave danger to the nation unless government spending is reduced."

The new building itself, Martin said, is a "testimonial to the runaway size of government spending."

"Government has grown so big and government spending is so enormous," he charged, "that it costs $25,000 just to provide office space for the 12,000 people needed to audit the books and accounts of this bureaucracy."

YES MAN Nickname Fits!

says John J. Alexander

Folks around here have nicknamed me Personals YES MANager because I say "yes" to 4 out of 5 who see me for a loan. What they may not know is why I can say "yes" to so many.

For one thing, I—alone—make the decisions here. And since I'm sold on the reliability of people in our community and know they use their loan for a good purpose, it's easy for me to say "yes" promptly.

Now I don't advise unnecessary borrowing. But if extra cash will help you to pay bills, handle medical or dental expenses, meet seasonal needs, or other good purposes—I'd like to say "yes" to you.

Loans are made on signature, furniture, or car—no outsiders are involved. What's more, you select your own payment plan.

Phone or come in. The Personal Finance Company is located on the 2nd floor, Woods Building, Corner East Washington and Mill Streets—over Isaly's. Or phone me—John Alexander at New Castle 2100.

Calls For Probe Of Alleged Solicitation From Candidates

By THOMAS J. FOLEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., called for a senate investigation of alleged solicitation of Democratic campaign funds from candidates for postmasterships in Michigan.

He told the senate the executive expenditures committee should conduct the same kind of inquiry that it did into similar charges in Mississippi.

Ferguson joined Sen. Moody (D) Mich., in denouncing the activity of the Michigan Democratic state central committee revealed by Rep. Meader (R) Mich., through release of a letter purportedly sent to postmaster candidates.

The letter noted that one candidate had been recommended but emphasized that "several steps" still remained before the appointment would be confirmed.

Need "Financial Support"

It then informed the candidate that the Democratic "greenbook" of 1950 campaign contributions did not list the candidate's name and stressed that "broad financial support" is necessary for party success.

Ferguson said: "If that isn't solicitation . . . then I don't know how you would make one. Further than a moral issue, this is a violation of law".

He urged that investigators "get from the greenbook" or from Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle's office "how much was paid for jobs in Michigan".

Ferguson tried to link the Michigan case with the current investigation of Boyle's connection with Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans.

The press is called the fourth estate because of its great influence upon public affiars. Formerly in England and France the church, the nobility and the commons were known as the three estates of the realm.

MANY TEACHING JOBS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The University of Illinois reports that jobs outnumber teachers five to one in the mentally-handicapped teaching field. The university said it will graduate 10 teachers certified under state law to teach the mentally handicapped but that it had 50 job requests.

'Drum Beats' Covered Up Explosives Experiments

By WALLACE HULLETT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 24. — Trevor Humphreys Byast was a brilliant apprentice scientist who liked to play Bach records late at night, but then there were those "drum beats" in the background.

Neighbors of the 21-year old Byast forgave the Bach fugues because they "helped him in his studies."

As for the sounds like those of the muffled beats of a drum which came from the modest three-story house in which Byast lived with his parents in the quiet stroud green area of North London, the neighbors did not think twice about them.

Case Spills Over

At least, they thought no more until the whole case spilled over in famed old Bailey criminal court.

Police witnesses at the trial said the immortal Bach music was only a cover for experiments on explosives which Byast and two school chums had been conducting for six months.

During that half year, police tried to find the gang responsible for a series of safe robberies. Each theft followed the same pattern —brown paper, smeared with treacle, muffled the tinkling of windows smashed as the thieves broke into offices.

Then the safe handle would be pried loose and a home-made explosive would be jammed into the hole left by the handle and the charge would be set off.

Silver coins were passed up—only one pound and five pound notes were taken—and no fingerprints were left.

Clue Is Found

But one detective, in true Sherlock Holmes tradition, found a tiny, unconsumed sprinkling of the explosive at the scene of one of the robberies.

Turning back the pages of memory to July, 1949, he recalled that a pale-faced, young amateur chemist named Byast had been placed on probation for making the same type of explosive.

A raid on the Byast home netted scientific text books, gangster books, notebooks filled with the latest underworld slang and, most important of all, a complete safe-breaker's kit and plastic mold for counterfeiting coins.

There also was a formula for making tear gas bombs and a plan for using them to escape police traps.

Byast's parents had no idea of their son's "hobby".

The final act was played out before Judge Sir Patrick Barry who said Byast was a "very skillful criminal" and sentenced him to five years in jail.

Two companions, John William Wade, 20, an electrician and Ronald Maisey, 21, were sentenced to two years each.

Flags Fly High In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(INS)—Kansas City has found a symbol for its triumph over the worst disaster in its history. And it has its own version of "V for Victory."

When the first flooded plant was put back into operation after days of frenzied labor, the two owners looked up at the empty flagpole. The same idea struck both of them at the same time. And so a few minutes later, a group of cheering workers stopped to watch a brand new American flag being raised.

The idea spread. Now, as each of a rapidly growing list of plants and stores reopens, the flag is raised, or hung, or displayed somehow. It's a symbol of encouragement both to the workers and the homeless people of the area who still need aid.

Scrawled, painted or chalked on walls all over the rebuilding area are the age-old words, "Kansas City Spirit," this proud cowtown's version of the wartime Kilroy phrase.

Jones, a New Castle high school, entered the National Guard in September, 1947. He was previously stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind. The recently honored sergeant will enter officer's candidate school soon.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The University of Michigan is the scene of the Hopwood Literary Awards; the occasion for an annual invasion of the campus by hopeful publishers' representatives waving contracts in one hand and bottle of Scotch in the other. Recently, however, pickings have been on the thin side, and the entries have become increasingly salty.

Professor Warner Rice told me of the evening he found one of his instructors deeply engrossed in a book. Rice noted that the book was the Kinsey report on Sexual Behavior in the Human Male. "I didn't know you found that subject so fascinating," joshed Rice. The instructor explained, "It isn't that. I'm just tapering off from the Hopwood Awards."

The late W. C. Fields, not noted for sobriety, once was asked if he ever had suffered delrium tremens in Hollywood. "That's impossible to answer," rasped the comedian. "It's impossible to tell where D. T.s end and Hollywood begins."

Folks Of Fame

Until very recently scarcely anyone in the West ever had heard of Mohammed Mossadegh except that he faints when highly excited over a speech and that his government has nationalized the British-owner Iranian oilfields. He has spent most of his life fighting for his idea of the right. He grew up in the court of the Kajar Shahs, who were deposed in 1925. His father was the Shah's finance minister for 30 years. His mother was a Kajar princess. When he was 15, he was sent to the province of Khurasan as a financial agent. When he was 25 he joined in an unsuccessful revolution against the Shah's revocation of a new Iranian constitution.

Warren Austin, U.S. ambassador, well known in the United Nations, is 73, was born in Highgate, Vt. After graduation from the University of Vermont and reading law in his father's office, he started his career as a smalltown lawyer and politician. He was a spellbinder before juries. In 1915 he negotiated a $130 million loan for railway and canal construction in China. At 53 he tossed his hat into the political ring and went to Washington in 1931 as a U.S. senator. He was a bitter opponent of the New Deal, but joined hands with President Franklin D. Roosevelt's foreign policy. In 1946 he was appointed America's "Ambassador to the World" at Lake Success.

Is Your Child Getting The BIG 8 IN WONDER BREAD?

Let The 8 Elements In Wonder Bread Help Your Child Grow Bigger and Stronger 8 Ways!

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, and Fish 8 Ways (as shown at right)

Every good mother wants her child to develop mentally and physically at the rate he or she should.

Yet, a shocking fact is disclosed in a recent survey of 9,543 children: 4 out of 5 are not well fed according to the standards of The National Research Council.

Mother—ALL the essential food elements your child needs each day are supplied by meat, bread, milk, eggs, fruit, yellow and green-leafed vegetables.

Wonder Bread is a wonderful food, because it helps your child grow bigger and stronger 8 ways as shown in the chart.

Good for Growth and Energy

For example, growing children need TWICE the protein per pound of body weight as grownups.

Penny for penny, Wonder Bread gives your child more body-building protein than the average of meat, milk, fish and eggs.

Growing children require energy for work and play.

Wonder Bread is a substantial energy food. More quickly converted into energy than fat. And better than fat for child growth.

Let your child benefit from the "Big 8" in Wonder Bread.

Helps Build Stronger, Bigger Bodies 8 Ways

The chart shows the 8 body and brain-building properties of Wonder Bread.

Serve Wonder Bread with meat, fish, eggs, milk, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables in a balanced diet to supply ALL the food elements your child must have for healthy growth.

8 ounces of Wonder Bread for a growing child cost less than a dime a day. You can afford Wonder Bread for your child.

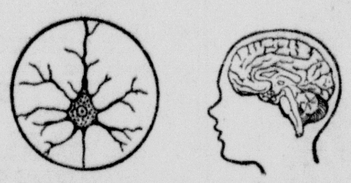

Doubly Fresh

Children love Wonder Bread. Plain or toasted. Because Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it; fresh when you eat it.

Remember—the reason for buying Wonder Bread is so your child can have the "Big 8" for growth and energy.

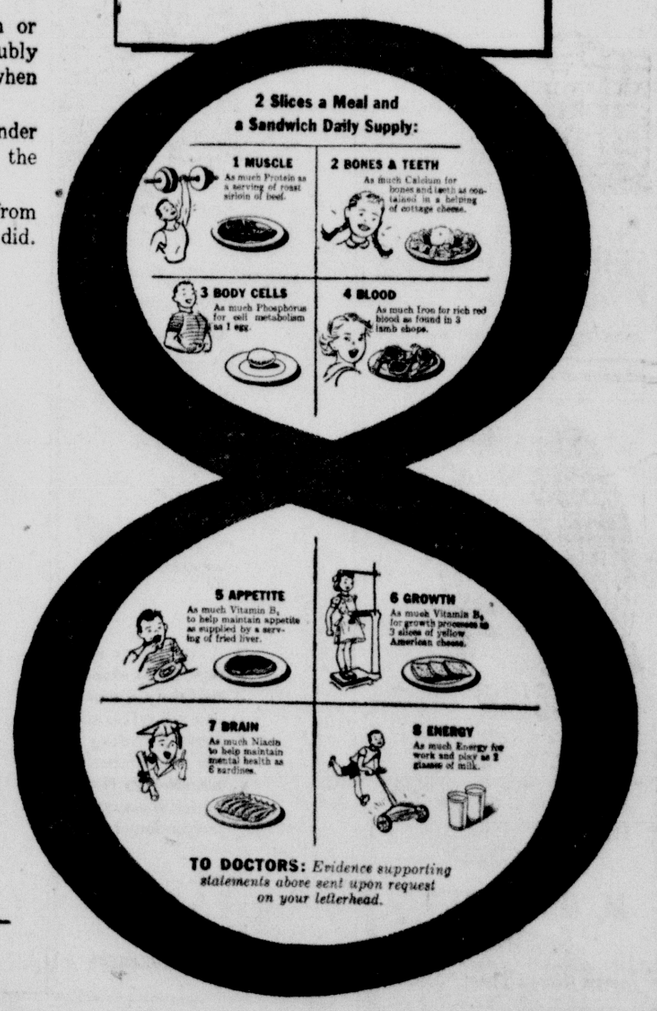

Get economical Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today—you'll be glad you did.

PROTEIN FOR BRAIN CELLS

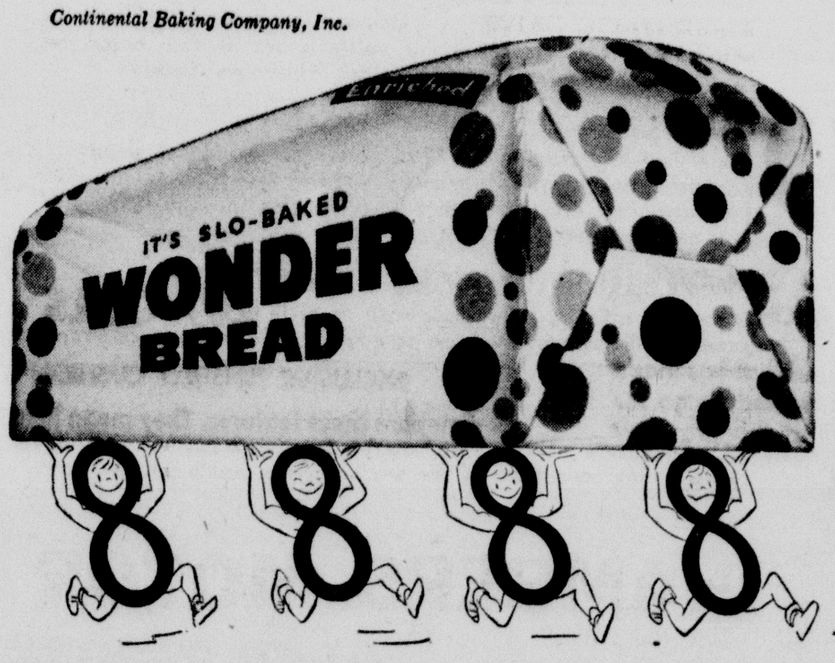

BRAIN CELL — BRAIN

One of the 6 types of cells in cerebral cortex of the human brain . . . which contains a total of some 15 billion cells. A principal factor in cell life and development is protein. Thus, in life, nothing is more important than the quality of the food we eat.

Public Health Plans Outlined

State Secretary Offers Projects

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Dr. Russell E. Teague, state secretary of health, today disclosed plans to bring Pennsylvania's public health program into line with legislation enacted by the current session of the general assembly.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Public Health Association at Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Dr. Teague recommended a program be launched immediately to revamp the state's present system of public health administration.

Projects Advocated

Dr. Teague advocated the following projects:

1. Establishment of a demonstration local health unit in one of the eight counties surrounding Allegheny county for use in training professional and technical personnel for public health work.
2. Reorganization of the Pennsylvania Department of Health for greater efficiency of operation.
3. A training program for personnel now in public health department and for others to be recruited for local county health departments.

Dr. I. Hope Alexander, Pittsburgh city health director, was installed yesterday as president of the association.

Newly-elected officers were Dr. William G. Mather, Penn State college professor, president-elect; Dr. George S. Klump, vice president; and Mary Arnold, chief of the Pittsburgh office of health education, secretary-treasurer.

Claim 58,000 Red Casualties In Five Weeks

By DON A. SCHANCHE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 25—(Tuesday)—(INS)—An eighth army spokesman today claimed Allied forces have inflicted 58,000 casualties on the Communists in the past five-and-a-half weeks of bloody see-saw fighting.

The announcement came even as UN troops in East Korea girded for a new attempt to regain the taller of two peaks on "Heartbreak Ridge" for the third time in two weeks.

The spokesman said that of 58,000 Reds killed or wounded since August 18, 15,000 were hit during the first week of September. More than half of these were on the craggy, fog-shrounded Eastern front.

Water Pressure Brings Complaint

If the occupant of a New Castle dwelling has low water pressure, he should report the fact in writing to Solicitor Robert M. White, city hall.

This was the advice of council which met Monday in city hall.

The advice came after Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bovard, East Washington street, said they had new pipes installed, even to the curb, but pressure remained low, and nothing was done to correct the situation.

Councilman Medure said complaints of this nature were general.

Mayor Haven said the city should join with the complainants, and if conditions were not remedied, the complaints should be taken to the PUC at Harrisburg.

Solicitor White remarked that the company apparently was endeavoring to cause the city to order in new mains which would cost six cents per lineal foot, perpetually.

He said lack of pressure caused unsanitary conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Bovard said pressure was so small 70 seconds were required before a glass became filled with water.

Exemption From Amusement Tax Asked From City

Dr. E. F. Henderson, representing the New Castle Guild, today, in a communication, requested the council to exempt the 10 percent amusement tax on Guild performers, explaining they added to the cultural being of the city. He said the performances attracted people from the tri-state district, and the tax was a burden in view of the added cost of talent and rental of the Cathedral.

It was brought out that the Cathedral assessment had been cut down considerable, and council expressed the belief that it should help, or bear the tax out of its rental.

The mayor said he was one who was willing to discuss this with the officers of the Cathedral association, which it was indicated, would be done.

Four Bids Received For Garbage Truck

Four bids were received by council Monday as the result of the city's desire to buy a 1½ ton cab and chassis for the city garbage bureau.

The bids were referred to committee for checking. They were as follows:

Francis Motor Sales Company, $1,696.13.

Cheeseman Bros, $1,750.

Bryan Motor Car Company, $2,196.96.

J. R. Rick Motor Car Company, $1,985.

Seek To Determine Status Of Teen-Ager Giving Baby Beer

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 24.—(INS)—Dallas police today searched the criminal code to determine the status of a teen-ager who gave beer to a year-old baby, then tried to revive the dying infant with orange soda pop.

The baby, Leslie Fletcher, of Garland, died Saturday night.

Police said a 16-year-old girl acting as baby sitter to the infant and his sister Karen, five, invited a neighbor girl and two boys over for a party while the children's mother was gone.

The two boys brought beer and one of the boys gave the baby about half a bottle of beer.

He told Homicide Detective Capt. Will Fritz: "The baby started turning greenish blue and I gave him an orange drink and he went to sleep".

He said he told the baby-sitter he thought the child was sick and she phoned a doctor. The doctor, he said, advised them to wrap the baby up and said he would be all right in an hour.

An hour later, the youth said, the baby was "still groaning and waving his hands and his fingers were still drawing".

The doctor, called the second time, advised an ambulance be called to take the infant to a hospital.

The baby was dead on arrival at Parkland hospital.

Small Fire At Foundry Sunday

City firemen were called to the plant of the New Castle Foundry on Hobart street, at 12:40 p. m., Sunday, by an alarm from Box 71. It was found that a motor on an electric oven had overheated. Damage of around $35 was done, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reported.

At 7:40 p. m., Sunday, Fourth ward firemen were summoned to 767 Lathrop street to help police extricate a cat from a sewer.

Heroin User Held In Jewelry Theft

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Police today held an alleged $100-a-day heroin user for a daring Waldorf-Astoria jewel robbery. They also were hunting $300,000 worth of gems he reportedly confessed stealing during the past two years.

Joseph Ireland, 41, was quoted as saying he carried out the jewel thefts mainly to keep himself supplied with dope. Police said he admitted taking jewels worth $64,000 from the Waldorf lobby showcase of the Roy W. Johnston Jewelry Company last Tuesday, expecting to get $9,000 for them.

Police recognizing Ireland's "touch" in the Waldorf robbery, hunted for him until last Friday when he was located in a New York City jail, awaiting sentence on an earlier charge of larceny.

Do you always recognize danger signs?

OF COURSE, you recognize these familiar warnings of danger. But another danger threatens you! It is not clearly marked nor easily recognized . . . but it's one you should beware of nonetheless.

Today, we Americans are willingly giving up some of our rights and freedoms—temporarily. As the price of rearming, we're giving the government vast powers over our plans, our business, our way of life.

The danger is that these powers may become permanent. Some people want them to. These are the people who, for years, have been saying, "The government ought to own and run things. The railroads, for example . . . and the electric light and power companies." Right now, the defense program gives these people a new opportunity for putting over their idea of government ownership and permanent controls.

But such permanent controls mean a socialistic U.S.A. . . . and Americans don't want that!

Remember this advertisement, then, as a sign that says: "Watch out! There's danger ahead!"

Cites Communism And Inflation As Big Threats To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—(INS)—Economic Stabilizer Johnston paired inflation and Communism as the two great threats to the United States.

Johnston addressed a luncheon of the National Association of Food Chains.

The economic stabilizer termed the Communist threat as one that was global, working "under a unified high command determined to destroy us."

But, Johnston asserted, inflation is just as great an enemy. He said it could wipe out the middle classes and destroy the U. S. economy. Johnston maintained that inflation was responsible for the rise of Hitlerism in Germany and the success of Communism in China.

Johnston said:

"If inflation ever got loose in America and rioted around in this economy, we could just as well forget about defending ourselves against Communism. For inflation would do Communism's work for it—more effectively than bullets or bombs."

Johnston spoke to the 1,800 chain store executives after an appeal had been made to them to cooperate against governmental discrimination aimed at food chains.

John Bockius, aged 16 years, of R. D. 1, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, Saturday afternon, for a contusion of the left arm.

Iron Lung Mother Dies, Baby Lives

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 24.—(INS)—Shreveport doctors today described the birth of a baby after its mother had died in an iron lung as "one of the rarest cases in medical history."

The baby boy was born last night by a post-mortem Caesarean operation immediately after Mrs. Shirley McCarthy, 23, died in a respirator.

Dr. S. George Wolfe, medical director of the polio center at the Veterans Administration hospital, said he believed it was the first case in medical history that a baby was born after the mother had already succumbed in a respirator.

Dr. Wolfe said the mother was eight months pregnant. She had been in the iron lung since Sept. 16 when she was brought to the polio center.

Reports Arrest Of Five Clears Up Local Burglaries

Ellwood City, September 3; probable loss $80.

In Other Counties

Four burglaries in Beaver county, one in Butler county were cleaned up, and Allegheny county detectives will quiz the men today to ascertain if they were implicated in burglaries in that county.

Smith, Tretyak and Kohl were arrested September 16 by Youngstown authorities in that city for three burglaries. According to State police they implicated Ginardi and Dixon.

Beacuse Pennsylvania authorities had more charges than Ohio had against the trio, Ohio authorities placed them in custody of State police. The men waived extradition and were brought here.

Dixon was arrested in MecKeesport and brought here. Ginardi is in Allegheny county jail charged with burglary and also violation of the firearms act.

Kohl is still in a Youngstown jail, no Pennsylvania charges having been placed against him.

According to State police, Frank Muic, 33, of Lyle boulevard, McKeesport, and Herman Greenwalt, age not stated, of Eden Park borough, R.D. 2, McKeesport, were arrested for receiving stolen goods. State police filed the charges in McKeesport.

They were alleged to have bought cigarettes and tires which were sold in a store owned by Muic. Twenty one tires were recovered.

Pleads Guilty

Dixon pleaded guilty before Justice C. E. Anderson, R.D. 8, Saturday, to burglarizing the Park Lunch. Ginardi was allegedly involved in this crime and a detainer was lodged against him. He is in Allegheny county jail.

Before the same justice, Tretyak and Smith were charged with burglarizing the Hudson and Devito service stations. They pleaded guilty. Ginardi was allegedly involved and second detainer placed against him.

Dixon, Smith and Ginardi are also charged by Ellwood City Police Chief Clark Ricer with burglarizing the Beighley Studebaker garage. A detainer will be filed against Ginardi.

They will be arraigned this week before Justice Parker of Ellwood City.

State police report that the arrests grew out of discovery by State police of a tennis shoe print at the DeVito service station which was worn by Tretyak, during one of the burglaries.

Tretyak, Dixon and Smith are in jail here. Ginardi is in the Allegheny county jail. Muic and Greenwalt, having pleaded guilty at McKeesport, are out on bond.

HIT, RUN ACCIDENT

Carl Bartholomew, Atlantic avenue, reported to police Saturday night an auto struck his car in South Shenango street. However, he caught the license number and was told by police to charge the operator of the other car with being a hit and run operator because he did not stop.

GOATS MUST GO

Chief of Police Robert Hanna today ordered that Stanley Wojnar, Cedar street, dispose of seven goats, or have them removed from the city. Several were found running loose in a Mahoning avenue garden. Goats are banned from the city, according to a city ordinance.

KING GEORGE VI HAS OPERATION

King Edward VII sanitorium at Midhurst in Sussex county. Four other nurses were present during the operative procedure.

Official Bulletin

An official bulletin issued at Buckingham Palace at 11:05 a.m. (6:05 a.m. EDT) said:

"The king has had a restful night. His majesty's condition this morning continues to be as satisfactory as can be expected."

The bulletin was issued some two hours after Dr. George Cordiner, eminent London radiologist, arrived at the palace presumably to X-ray the area of the surgery to establish the post-operative situation.

Medical sources interpreted the bulletin to mean that the king displayed no abnormal post-operative symptoms at a morning medical conference. It was not known whether the doctors had results of the X-rays before them when they issued the bulletin.

It was understood that the physicians maintained an all-night vigil near the king's room and received periodic reports on his progress from a seasoned night nursing staff.

Crowd Watches

A crowd of three hundred watched as Palace Superintendent Stanley Williams, flanked by two policemen, posted the thick-pencilled, handwritten bulletin on the palace railings.

The throng grew rapidly and police marshalled the anxious spectators into a customary queue. Many expressions of "Thank God for that" came from women as they read the announcement and passed on.

The bulletin, timed 10:15 but held up for 50 minutes, was immediately telephoned to Clarence House, home of Princess Elizabeth, the heiress presumptive to the throne, and to Marlborough House, residence of Queen Mother Mary. It also was handed to the Duke of Windsor, who arrived in London this morning and spent almost an hour talking with his mother.

A medical specialist told International News Service that the bulletin can be regarded as "satisfactory at this state" but he added that anxiety must continue at least through Thursday and possibly longer.

High Period of Danger

He explained that a high period of danger will exist during the first five days due to post-operative shock and the possibility of complications. These might include, he said, sudden collapse, secondary hemorrhage or infection.

The 55-year-old monarch was given a 50-50 chance to live by medical authorities because of his age and the nature of the operation—removal of part or all of one of his lungs.

Medical experts said it must be assumed that doctors presently are concentrating on the proper functioning of the other lung, using oxygen to help respiration. At the same time the king must be kept heavily drugged to withstand the shock of the complex and formidable operation.

The medical specialist envisaged that the king would be kept in bed at least two weeks, with a declaration that he was out of danger possibly not coming for upwards of ten days — provided everything progresses normally.

Reason Not Given

Frail health which has afflicted the Monarch since boyhood deteriorated further in the past few years, resulting in yesterday's urgent surgery which was performed in a special operating theatre set up in Buckingham Palace.

Palace physicians did not state the reason for the operation, whether it was to remove a malignant growth—cancer—or a benign tumor of some kind.

Medical specialists ruled out most lung conditions except a growth, adding that in eight out of ten cases, such serious and urgent operations are for the removal of cancer.

It also was noted that in about 94 per cent of the cases in which a lung is removed, recovery from the surgery itself has been complete. But if the patient suffered a cancerous growth, new signs of cancer usually appear later, although perhaps not for some time.

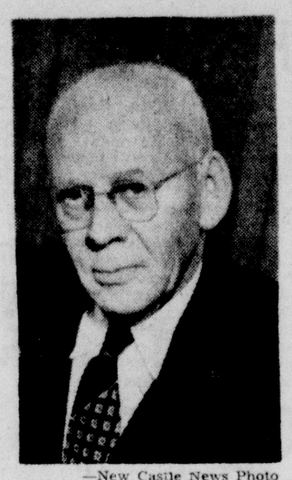

In general, barring unforeseen complications, they said, the patient should start making rapid strides toward recovery the next day. Transfusions are administered, if necessary and after ten days, again barring the unforeseen, the patient may be able to walk about under his own power.

Hundreds of messages expressing concern for the king's recovery poured into the palace.

Dowager Queen Makes Visit To Son, King George VI

LONDON, Sept. 24. — (INS) — Aged queen mother Mary visited Buckingham palace late today and may have seen her son, King George VI., who is given a 50-50 chance to survive a severe lung operation performed yesterday.

The 84-year-old dowager queen reached the palace at 4:55 p.m. (11:55 a.m. EDT) from her own residence, Marlborough house, where she previously had met her eldest son, the Duke of Windsor, formerly King Edward VIII.

It was the first time that King George's mother had gone to the palace since the operation, which involved removal of at least a portion of one of the monarch's lungs.

Subway Series Between Yanks And Dodgers Shaping Up

Indians And Giants About Out Of Pennant Contention

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—A trip to New York, ten cents, a subway ride and a ticket of admission appear today to be the only requirements for the 1951 world series.

Actually, the once spine-tingling three-way American League race and the runaway National League show have done an about-face as the principals involved go into the last week of action.

Yanks Nearer

Mathematically, the Yankees are nearer to winning their third straight crown than the Brooks are to gaining the duke in the older league.

Vic Raschi and the revenge-bent Detroit Tigers saw to that yesterday. Raschi entered the 20-game circle for the third straight season as he pitched the world champs to a 6-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers, who had played dead for the Indians all season, made it three in a row over them with a 9-to-1 shellacking that just about wrote the Tribe off as champs.

Just About Over

The Yankee lead was upped 2 1-2 games over Cleveland and five over Boston. And here's the payoff:

Cleveland has three more games. The Yankees have six. But even if Cleveland wins all three and the Yankees just manage to win three of their six, the New Yorkers are in.

Raschi gave up eight hits while the Yanks made 14 off Chuck Stobbs and three relievers. The victory by the big righthander was the second for New York in eleven tries at Fenway Park this season.

Detroit, out to upend Cleveland's pennant hopes and succeeding dramatically, bashed out 15 hits, including a three-run homer by Vic Wertz in besting 20-game winner Mike Garcia. Virgil Trucks scattered seven Tribe hits to gain his 12th victory for Detroit.

The Yankees have a game with the spoiler Athletics tomorrow and then a five-game set with the Red Sox beginning Friday which closes out the season. The Indians play the White Sox tomorrow and then end up with two against the Tigers.

Boston has a three-game set with Washington before meeting New York.

Dodgers Need Four

The magic number for Brooklyn is four. And the Buns can thank Preacher Roe for the fact that they are just about in the money.

Old Preach won his 22nd game in 24 decisions, a National League percentage mark, when he hurled the Brooks to a 6-to-2 win over the Philadelphia Phillies. Roe ended a Dodger losing streak of two games and kept them three games ahead of the never-say-die Giants.

Sal Maglie also won his 22nd as the Giants beat the Boston Braves, 4 to 1. But the Giants have only five games left while the Dodgers have seven. And the Giants are four games behind in the lost column.

Pirates-Reds Split

In other National League contests, the St. Louis Cardinals thumped the Chicago Cubs twice, 9 to 3 and 5 to 2, and Pittsburgh and Cincinnati split. The Pirates won the opener, 3 to 0, as little Murry Dickson became the 11th major league pitcher to win 20 games this season and Howie Fox pitched the Reds to a 2-to-0 shutout win in the nightcap.

In the American League, the Philadelphia Athletics took two from the Washington Senators, 12 to 4 and 8 to 3, and the St. Louis Browns edged the Chicago White Sox, 8 to 7.

Steelers Trim Chicago Bears

Score Is 23-21 In Exciting Game

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 24.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers edged in among the top challengers for the National Professional League title today on the strength of a convincing 23-21 exhibition game triumph over the Chicago Bears in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh's hard charging line allowed the Bears only 39 yards on rushing plays and the secondary defense intercepted four passes to set up two Steeler touchdowns.

Joe Geri, the all-league halfback from Phoenixville, Pa., kicked a 29-yard field goal in the third period to provide what proved to be the winning margin. He also scored a touchdown on a seven-yard pass from Lynn Chandnois and kicked two of three extra points he attempted.

Teamsters Blanked 11-0 By Youngstown

Youngstown General Fireproofing softballers, gained one leg of the Penn-Ohio league championship trophy at Hartman Field, Sunday, by swamping the Teamsters, 11-0.

Homeruns by Maloney and Henshaw, and a triple by Bassit, combined with Petrolini's four-hitter, stopped the Teamsters cold.

The two teams will play their second in the best of three-game series, Wednesday night at Oakland Field in Youngstown at 5 p.m.

The Teamsters will meet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Union hall.

Slippery Rock Edges Westminster 19 To 13

Westminster college couldn't shake the jinx Saturday as the invading Slippery Rock eleven took a 19-13 victory to run up their 14th straight win over the Titans.

During the first quarter of play it looked like the long losing streak might be broken as the Westminster eleven scored early in the period on an aerial play and then came back later in the same period to go across the marker again on a 40 yard gallop by halfback Tom McGrath. But the second touchdown was nullified by a penalty and the Rockets took command as the second period got underway.

Rockets Tie Score

Slippery Rock tied up the contest 6-6 early in the second stanza when halfback Bill Kissiday tossed 30 yards into the end zone to end Bill Meehan. Another aerial toss from halfback Bob Sawhook to end Ed Eyle midway of the same period was good for the second touchdown and the Rockets led 12-6 at the halfway mark.

Late in the third period the Rockets added an insurance marker on a sustained drive of 62 yards with fullback Dave Johnson scoring on a 13 yard smash through the center of the Titan line.

Titans Score On Passes

Both Titan touchdowns came on passes from quarterback Dick Banick to halfback Carl Mantz. The first one in the opening minutes of the game was set up when Paul Campbell intercepted a Rocket pass on the Slippery Rock 35 yard line and carried the ball down to the 25 yard line. Banick passed to McGrath to the Rocket five yard line and tossed later to Mantz for the tally. Banick uncorked a 45 yard heave to Mantz late in the final period for the other touchdown and Bob Sistek kicked the extra point.

Statistically, Westminster held the edge in the contest with 11 first downs to the Rocket's eight. Westminster ran up 270 yards rushing and passing to 185 yards amassed by the Rockets.

DeMarco Battles Bolanos Tonight

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—(INS)—Paddy De Marco, rugged Brooklyn, N.Y., lightweight, is risking a 15-straight victory string tonight when he clashes with Enrique Bolanos in a ten-round bout at Chicago's coliseum.

De Marco, who beat Sandy Saddler, world's featherweight champion in an over-the-weight bout at Milwaukee, August 27, ranks third among the world's lightweights.

Bessemer High Trounces Lowellville 25-0 In Home Opener Saturday

Bessemer smothered Lowellville 25-0 in their Saturday night home opener.

The Cementers, punished in their last outing at Evans City, and stopped 6-6 at Arnold, took complete charge Saturday to record their first win of the season.

A huge statistical advantage piled up by the hosts told the story.

Score In Second Period

The Cementers were denied in the first period after pushing to the Ohioans five-yard line, but scored quickly in the second when Ed. Novad stormed off tackle and raced 43-yards, dragging Tom Haines across the goal. After Henderson's placement was nullified by a holding penalty he resorted to the air, tossing the successful point after touchdown pass to Joe Commesso.

Anthony Pastella dropped on a Lowellville fumble on the kickoff and the Cementers romped again. Novad, Livorine, and Commesso moved the ball to the enemy 22, and called on Wayne Henderson for a touchdown pass. He found Commesso in the end zone for the 13th point. His placement failed, and Bessemer led 13-0 at halftime.

Lowellville pushed to the Bessemer 31 with the aid of two penalties, but then lost the ball on downs. The visitors made only one further penetration during the game.

A poor kick late in the quarter was run to the enemy 33 by Livorine. On the ensuing play the 133-pound halfback burst through tackle and went the distance for the touchdown. Henderson's kick was wide and Bessemer led 19-0, at the end of the period.

Bessemer Dominates

So dominate was Bessemer in the fourth quarter, that the Ohio team was in possession of the ball for only three plays. The hosts drove 60-yards in 15-plays with DeArment slipping through for the final tally. Bessemer 25, Lowellville 0. Henderson's extra point attempt was no good.

The weirdest play of the game came soon after. Andervich's successful pass to J. Donofrio for Lowellville consumed 30-yards, placing the ball on the Bessemer 30. Andervich on the next play rammed over guard into the clear and raced to the five yard line where he dropped the ball. Touchdown was written all over the play. Henderson recovered the fumble and Bessemer hurried the ball to the 32 before the final whistle.

Bessemer will play Union at Bessemer next Saturday night.

Gardner had held the championship since last February.

Union Township Loses Home Opener To Evans City 27-0

Union township high school dropped its 1951 home opener 27-0 Saturday night to a hard hitting and fast Evans City team.

Half of the game was played in a driving rain, but even this failed tto stop the visitor's attack, which was paced by the tremendous line bucks of fullback Bob Kennedy.

Kennedy was good for five yards nearly every time he carried the ball, bulling his way to gains where there was no hole in the Scottie front wall.

The rest of the fleet Evans City backs also picked up yardage in the early stages of the game, but were held in check in the second, third and fourth frames.

Evans City kicked to Union to open the contest and after three running plays Fred Brogan punted to the Union 46 yard line. After picking up 10 yards and a first down on the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Dick Kennedy hit Pudina with a pass along the right sidelines and Pudina raced all the way for the first score.

Kennedy Scores

Towards the end of the quarter Evans City scored again, after Pudina recovered a Union fumble at midfield. It took six plays for the Big Red to move the ball into paydirt, with Bob Kennedy plugging over from thte one. Kennedy also plunged for the extra point.

Union came to life near the end of the second quarter, with Bill Ahrens pacing an attack that carried the Scotties from their own 30 down to the Evans City 30.

Ahrens had gains of 18 and 15 yards in the rally and one of nine yards that was called back because of a penalty.

Evans City scored its third touchdown of the game midway in the third quarter with Bob Kennedy plunging over from the four, after a sustained drive. Again the big fullback plunged over for the extra point to make it 20-0.

The Big Red scored their final tally of the game in the fourth quarter with Bob Kennedy again driving down the field and going over for the score. He also plunged for his third extra point.

Saddler-Pep Bout Wednesday

Champion Figures To Keep On Winning

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(INS)—Sandy Saddler, leading Willie Pep 2 to 1 in the featherweight world series, is going to try to retire the trophy at the Polo Grounds Wednesday night.

The dark skinned champion is counting on sheer speed in the ring to bring him a successful defense of the title he won back from Pep a year ago.

If Saddler wins decisively, Pep's enthusiasm for yet another fight may be toned down. But Pep is not figuring on losing this time.

The little guy from Hartford, Conn., was well ahead in points last time out when a shoulder separation kept him on his stool after the bell for the eighth round and gave the Duke to Saddler on a TKO.

Saints Win Football Opener Sunday, 26-0

In Sunday sandlot football, St. Phillips and James defeated East New Castle, 26-0 at Shenango field.

The victors, led 7-0 at halftime and then scored three times in the last two periods to win. Stevens tallied twice for the winners, and Kolodjeski and Mehalic once each. Shoaff and Shaffer were standouts for East New Castle.

WPIAL Opener Friday Night For Hurricanes

New Castle high school will open its WPIAL schedule Friday night at Taggart Stadium with Sharon high school, after three non-league tussles.

Sharon also had its trouble last Friday night, bowing to Erie Strong Vincent 7-6, for its first loss of the season, after winning its first two.

Several other Ne-Ca-Hi opponents also had tough sledding, including arch foe McKeesport, which dropped a WPIAL game 14-7 to another New Castle foe, Aliquippa.

Farrell swept to its third straight one sided victory, spilling Erie Academy 39-6. New Castle defeated Academy 13-6 earlier in the season.

Chest Night

Carrick won its first game of the season by drubbing Brentwood 25-6. Turtle Creek took its third straight setback, at the hands of Jeannette 19-0.

Friday night at Taggart Stadium it will be Community Chest Night honoring the more than 500 volunteer workers of the 1951 Community Chest campaign, which will begin on October 11.

School and chest officials announce that there will be no solicitation, with the program merely to honor the workers and to call to the attention of the people the coming campaign.

GEORGE BOLINGER, secretary and Joseph Kraynak of the Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen in reference to proposed special fishing in Elliott's Run report as follows:

"Meeting recently at the Oakland Sportsmen Club, the Sportsman Council adopted a resolution submitted by Lawrence County Sportsmen Association asking for county wide support in its effort to have Elliots' Run as a special fishing area in which only artificial lures may be used. The officers of the association pointed out that the stream is not stocked at the present time due to the opposition of some land owners, however, it was stated that if special fishing regulations were observed in this restricted area, the farmers would be willing to permit stocking in the stream again. It was stated that the East branch of the Little Sandy in Venango was reopened to fishing under special fishing regulations.

"To improve sportsmen-farmer relationship, Mr. Wilbur Patterson of Union High proposed that the affiliated clubs of the county council cooperate with the Game Commission and the Department of Public Instruction in sponsoring a program of special interest to the Future Farmers of America in its efforts to conserve and restore the wildlife resources of the country. It was revealed that approximately 200 boys in Lawrence County are members of the Future Farmers and are enrolled in vocational agricultural courses. It is proposed that the ten affiliated clubs of the County Council take part in the program by offering cash prizes to farm boys and girls participating in the various projects.

The County Council approved a motion by the Lawrence County Sportsmen that the Pennsylvania Fish Commission's biologist be asked to examine and survey the Slippery Rock Creek to determine the suitability of the stream for the stocking of wall eyed pike. The reason for this action is to afford a longer fishing season during the summer months, at present, the stream is stocked mostly with trout and fishing ends in July.

"Game Protector Hooper reported that the stocking program was moving ahead rapidly, to date, 1524 county reared pheasants, 350 Commission birds have been released. In addition, 1198 hens have been released during the past season.

"The meeting date of Council has been temporarily changed to the 3rd Thursday and the next meeting place will be the Shenango Valley Beagle Club on October 18."

Doerr Honored By Boston Fans

BOSTON, Sept. 24. — (INS) — Bobby Doerr was just a memory today at Fenway Park.

The man who covered second base territory with quiet efficiency since mid-season of 1937, has retired from baseball.

On his last day at Fenway, Doerr was presented with the Jack Singer award for sportsmanship—a $500 defense bond. Singer was an International News Service war correspondent who was killed in action.

Five former West Point gridders have enrolled at Kansas State college. All will study engineering.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Trend Is Lower

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—(INS)—The stock market resummed its downward movement today. Losses ranged from fractions to two points, although here and there along the line a few plus signs were noted.

Today's decline in the Dow-Jones industrial average was the seventh in a row, one of the longest reactionary strings this year. Wall Street was still inclined to blame the sell-off on investor concern over thhe effect of the new tax bill on corporate profits.

At 11 a.m. the Dow-Jones industrial average was off $1.67 a share; the rails were down 15 cents and the utilities were up two cents.

Volume for the first hour totaled 340,000 shares as against 430,000 last Friday.

Curb stocks were moved. Big board bonds were irregularly lower. Cotton featured a higher commodity list with a spurt of $2 a bale.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

9-24

BABY EATS OUT

During a short trip recently, one of the most interesting things we noticed was how many families are taking their babies along and eating out with them. In one roadside restaurant the other day there were four tow-headed "under twos" dining with their families.

But eating out with the baby does call for a little planning. Fortunately, most eating places have special equipment for the youngest. High chairs and bibs or even special dishes, forks and spoons are available. And though one can usually get suitably prepared food, it isn't a bad idea to have some of Junior's favorite food along in case he balks at things to which he's not accustomed. Strained canned vegetables, a piece of zweiback or any other infant delicacy that he likes will often assure a pleasant and uneventful time at the out-of-home table.

Of course, there'll be a little difficulty now and then. The young traveler may "cut up" a bit, fuss and otherwise embarrass us. But if we take it easy, such behavior isn't likely. And it's a lot more fun to have him along with us than to have to make special arrangements to feed him by himself.

Butler Man Hurt When Car Turns Over

James Carothers, aged 66 years, of 408 Hazel street, Butler, suffered a fracture of the left shoulder in a collision on Route 422, west of the city, Saturday evening. He was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment at 10:15 p. m.

Carothers was traveling east toward New Castle, when at Cotton Motel, he lost control of his car and turned over on the side of the road. Damage to his car amounted to $350. Mr. Carothers reported to state police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car.

Social Security

Self-Employed Are Obligated

The large number of inquiries being received at the New Castle Social Security office indicates there is some misunderstanding of the self-employed person's obligations under the new Social Security act.

Old-age and survivors insurance is not optional for people working for themselves in their own trade or business or as partners in such enterprises, according to Myron Milbouer, manager of the New Castle Social Security office. He explained that a self-employed person who derives as much as $400 in net profit from his business or businesses in any taxable year after December 31, 1950, is covered under the Social Security law and has the same obligation to report his own income and pay the self-employment tax as employers have to report and withhold social security taxes on their employees' earnings.

Report Due March 15

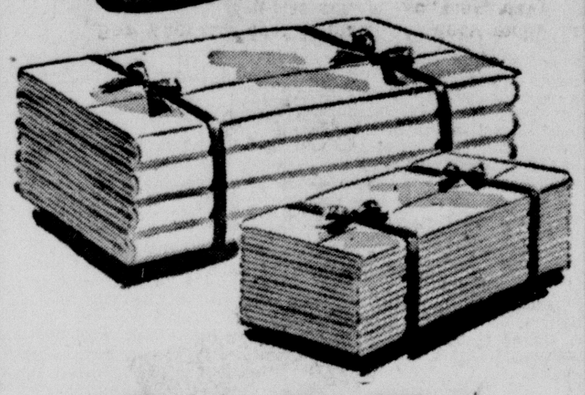

However, the self-employed person does not report himself along with his employees. His self-employment income must be reported annually on his income tax Form 1040, schedule C, which has been especially revised for this purpose. The first such report will be due March 15, 1952, and will cover the self-employment income for the taxable year 1951. The social security tax rate is 2¼ per cent of the first $3600 of net business profits.

Mr. Milbouer pointed out that each person must show his social security account number on his income tax return. "If you have never had an account number card and are self-employed, visit or write to the nearest office of the Social Security Administration. If you once had a card but lost it, ask for a duplicate of that account number, not for a new one," he advised.

Those Excluded

Those excluded from the self-employment coverage provisions are those whose income is derived from self-employment as owner-operator of a farm, and self-employment income derived from practice as a physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, naturopath, veterinarian, architect, CPA, licensed, registered or full-time practicing public accountant, Christian Science practitioner, professional engineer or funeral director.
